2021 NATIVE CDFI AWARDS

Native CDFI Awards Program

Overview

The Native CDFI Awards is a partnership among Opportunity Finance Network (OFN), Oweesta Corporation, and Wells Fargo. The three-year (2019-2021) awards program provides $125,000 each year to Native CDFIs (community development financial institutions).

Across tribal communities, Native CDFIs create innovative solutions to help tribal members breakthrough substantial barriers to economic development opportunities and capital access. The Native CDFI movement is a powerful example of how tribal members change the economic landscapes of their communities by providing financial services and products that build individual assets and community wealth in Indian country across the United States.

2021 Native Awards

Native CDFIs directly provide Native American communities with tools and capital support that drive real and sustainable job creation, small business development, commercial real estate development, and affordable housing/home ownership. These mission driven lenders also offer basic banking services and financial literacy training to “underbanked” Native American communities historically targeted by predatory lending practices.

Native CDFIs provide an array of asset-building tools and direct financing products that stimulate reservation economies nationwide by offering tribal communities the opportunity to acquire financial management skills and build and accumulate assets through small business creation, homeownership, and educational endeavors.

Every year, the Native CDFI Awards will honor two Native CDFIs through two Awards: the Native CDFI Catalyst Award and the Native CDFI Seed Capital Award.

In 2021, the Awards will celebrate Native CDFIs creating opportunity and promoting self-sovereignty measures and strategies that advance local efforts for community asset building within their tribal communities.

Examples of potential strategies for Native CDFI Awards applicants could include (but are not limited to):

- COVID-19 recovery efforts
- New products or new product innovations
- Geographic expansion
- Product and program replication
- Back-office infrastructure development
- Marketing and distribution innovations
- Integration of financial education or financial counseling
- Innovative new partnerships
- Use of technology (e.g., software, impact tracking, online platforms, mobile phone applications)
