Success Story: L.A. Kitchen, Los Angeles, CA

L.A. Kitchen is a nonprofit social enterprise dedicated to providing job training and permanent jobs to people with barriers to employment, improving nutrition and meal services for older Angelenos, and reducing food waste. By partnering with local farms, wholesalers and food service businesses, L.A. Kitchen reclaims produce that would have otherwise have gone to waste. Job trainees and volunteers use this local produce to prepare healthful meals, which are given free or at a reduced price to social service organizations. Nonprofit Finance Fund (NFF) is providing a $2 million loan to support the launch of a social enterprise whose integrated services model uses healthy food to create positive change in Los Angeles. The loan to startup venture L.A. Kitchen has allowed the organization to outfit a 20,000 square foot commercial kitchen, purchase equipment, and move beyond its pilot phase to a full-scale launch in July of 2015.
